STOP REWIND

WARNING: You have entered the book through the area formerly known as the front. This is the back. Rewind...

Seaside High School had 540 students in January 2000. The 2000 SEABREEZE is printed in a 9" x 10" format with four-color laminated cover with 160 pages. Most photos in the books were taken by staff photographers and all black and white film was processed and printed in the SHS lab. Color processing and printing was done through Costco. Camera ready layout was completed on Power Macintosh computers using PageMaker 6.5 and Photo Shop 4.0. This yearbook was completed using Macintosh computers, and sent camera ready to be printed by Jostens. The SEABREEZE was printed in an edition of 400 copies at the Jostens plant at Visalia, California.

SAYING GOODBYE

In October the world population reached six billion. In 1981-82, the years our oldest students at SHS were born, the population was half that. The world says goodbye to most of its wide open spaces.

The high school bids goodbye to reirees Joy Young and Patty Stamphlee who retired at the end of the school year, and to Jered Boyd (who filled in for the last two months after Priddy left), Stacey Hofmann (who moved to the gorge with her husband to start her family), Principal Carl Odin (after eleven years at SHS Odin moves to the District office), Neil Priddy (who left at the end of Spring Break to move to Yakima with his wife Lori Kahl), April Rudisill (who is going to grad school), Michelle Starke (who finally admitted that the daily drive over the Coast Range was too much and accepted a position with Hillsboro High School).

We need to thank the many generous people who were not on the yearbook staff, but who made this book possible by running errands, bringing us cookies, sharing photographs, showing us how to use equipment, and answering our interminable questions: parents, coaches, teachers and staff, our Jostens rep Kay Soliday for her support and expertise, Gary Anderson for numerous trips to Costco to deliver and pick up color film, the Daily Astorian and Bill Linde of Still Images for photographs, The Seaside Signal, The Cannon Beach Gazette, Liz Beckman for snacks, a camera, and her general goodwill, and the school bookkeeper Sandy Bergerson for taking care of our money.

• The excitement got to some more than others. Graduated senior William Harvey was overcome by the rite of passage and donned this disguise for the night. Graduation ended at 9:15 Monday evening, 12 June 2000. The Senior Party began shortly after, and ended at 5:30 the following morning. Photo by Christy Williams.

• Patty Stamphlee and Joy Young retired after a combined twenty-eight years with the Seaside School District. Stamphlee worked at Clatsop Community College before coming to SHS. In the past twelve years she has, among many other things, completed over 160,000 Daily Bulletins. Young has served the District for sixteen years, the last eight as Head Cook. Photo by Jan Priddy.

• If it looks like a seagull and flies like a seagull and sounds and eats and... well, does all the seagull stuff, does that make it a seagull? In this case, No. The Seaside High School mascot is usually Emily Reyneke or Matt Stowers, and this bird photographed in Seaside is a fly in (not our typical gray and white bird). Photo by Ben Fry.

During the Awards Assembly (traditionally held in the morning of the last full week of school, on the seniors' last day) Jan Priddy presented copngratuilations to senior staff member of the Seabreeze, Katie Williams, Christy Nagle, Molly Olstedt, Sabrina Resa, Trish Hill, Kevin Reynolds, Aya Yanagi, and Molly Brown. Olstedt was winner of the coveted "Exquisite Eggplant." • Molly and Molly—What's in a name? Olstedt and Brown kept their heads when all those around them were losing theirs. • Photo Editor Thrish Hill and Ben Fry wait (usually patiently) for people to complete photo orders. • Editors Katie Williams and Christy Nagle help Esther Frank with baseball pages. This has been a great year for change, for making change, for noting transitions. The fall of 1999 marked my twentieth year of work for the Seaside School District. Neil Priddy finally broke up the brother-sister act when he moved in the spring of 2000. This was also my tenth year as yearbook advisor—my tenth Seabreeze. I have been particularly touched by two aspects of working in the Seaside Schools—the students I've worked with and learned from, and the excellent education our sons have gained. This doesn't happen without the support of staff, faculty, and a community that cares about kids.

Thank you,
Jan Priddy

"Far from being the buzzards of the seashore. 'seagulls' are complex—and amazing survivors. Protection: Gulls are not hunted and are protected under the International Migratory Bird Treaty Act. Reproduction: Monogamous, seagulls become sexually active in their fourth year. Females usually lay three eggs, but the third is only a hedge against losing one. Lifespan: Seagulls typically live fifteen to twenty years, but individuals have been recorded living up to thirty years. Diet: Omnivorous pirates, seagulls are adept at capturing their own food including fish, clams, carrion, the young of other birds, berries, and most human leftovers. They will even root in fields for mice, earthworms, and insects.

"Gimme some mo'!"- 2000 Varsity Baseball Team

This year's baseball team went out looking for more and that's exactly what they got. More victories, more fun, and more pride. Walking into the season not knowing what to expect, this year's baseball team surprised not only their many fans but also themselves. They took first in Districts for the first time since 1988 and continued on to the third round of the State Playoffs. They walked away from their regular season with twelve wins and six losses.

The last sport to end, baseball was unique, especially this year when Seaside not only played baseball, but invented their own pregame warm-up called, "Brooksie Ball." Invented by David Latham, Nate Pfund, Mike Mizell, Dennis Maier, and Jeff Budnick, this game consisted of the whole team standing around in a circle each with a bat. There was one ball and the object was to juggle the ball off of their bats. If each player touched the ball it was declared, "Brooksie Ball." The goal of the game was to see how many "Brooksie Balls" they could acquire.

Superstition was big amongst this group of ball players. Every game they had to have their Safeway doughnuts that they believed gave them power in their games. John Faber was to thank because he had "the hook up" with umpire Butch Johnson who works in the deli.

Sweat, blood, and bruises

Kevin Irish & Molly Dueber

Edisaes (Seaside backword)- Was chanted to pump up the team.

Lead by senior team captains Brenda Tone and Jenni Bradley, the 2000 softball team went boldly into the season. The team fell just short of the state playoff with a year-end record of 11-12. Pitcher Bradley and outfielder Amber Danielovich received All-Cowapa League honors and Bradley was selected to play in the state 3A All-Star series.

The team's highlight was a 3-1 victory over the number one ranked team in the state, Banks. It was the second game of a double header. Bradley was the pitcher of that game, and 10 others this season. She has struck out 90 batters, pitched five shutouts, had an ERA of 0.87, and only let the opposing batters hit a mere .176 batting average.

Prior to every game the fans would hear "Rachel, Rachel, Rachel" from a huddle of Seaside players around the pitcher's mound. This was to honor teammate and friend Rachel Anderson, who was under going chemotherapy for Liposarcoma cancer and missed the season. The team held three fund raising Barbecues which raised $3,400 to cover some of Rachel's hospital bills.

Head coaches Kay Terranova and Tom Mauldin retired at the end of this season. Terranova has been coaching Seaside softball for six years. Mauldin has coached for four seasons.

We would like to thank Cat and Tom Mauldin and Kay Terranova for information about the season.

This was Anderson's first year out for track and it was a strong one. At the state meet, he had a great showing with an 11th place finish in the 3,000 and in the 1,500 finishing 12th. • 13. Don't stick your tounge out at me! Okay, I think that we can let this one slide. Walter Lewis is rather intense with his triple jump, including his facial expression. Photo by Molly Olstedt.

Taking track to a new level

Molly Brown and Molly Olstedt

With spikes over the shoulder and short shorts on, they came to compete

Just because the numbers were down doesn't mean anyone lowered their expectations for the Seaside boys track team for the year of 2000. Like the girls team, there was a smaller showing than in recent years, but that didn't stop them. With new coaches at the reins, Neil Branson and Wally Hamer stepped in for Gene Gilbertson, the boys picked up where they left off.

The coaches went about the season with a new look, with more focus on the team aspect. Each practice and meet started out with team "Squadulation". This consisted of a team warm-up lap, stretching and "Gull" jacks. It was lead by the senior guys and the unity helped the athletes out tremendously.

Districts had great performances, as usual. Andrew Stuart and Jonathan Robinson jumped to 1st and 2nd in the long jump, advancing to state along with Anderson, McCord, and Walsborn. The boys' 4x100 ran their way to first place and districts and had a strong showing in the preliminaries at state. Robinson also went to the state meet in the 100m and the 200m dash. Nate Dillion came in second at districts, but was unable to compete at state due to an injury. Stuart took second in the long jump at state and Walsborn had an impressive 6th place finish.

With it's ups and downs, overall the track season was great.

We're a team, it's time to squadulate

Nora Beckman & Holly Snair

Hey wait a second, we're not football players. Are we?

There was a definite focus on the team atmosphere for the Seaside track team in the 2000 season. The coaches had us running a lap, doing jumping jacks, and stretching together every day, as well as at meets, to help promote this theme. As it was jokingly called by our coaches, "Squadulation" was the word of the season. Some people may have missed the carefree days of slacking, warming up when they wanted to, or laying on the high jump mats, but as a whole it brought a sense of unity which brought the team together.

With less than 25 athletes, and 17 events to fill, everybody had to chip in and try new events. The season started out slowly, with winter sports running over, and people starting out late, but after many meets and two months of grueling practices, everyone was ready for Districts. Placing second in the Cowapa League District meet, we sent 6 girls to state, and ended up with one state champion, Alix Daggatt, in the long jump, jumping seventeen and a half feet.

After Districts, the whole girls team voted on awards. The 'squadulation' award was presented to Monica Teeple and Haley Owens. Most Improved went to Robyn Stowers and Charlie Gilliam. At the awards banquet, the 'Field Athlete of the Year' went to Alix Daggatt. As for the running side, Molly Brown was presented with the 'Runner of the Year' award.

Being hit in the head with a driver, hitting with the opposite hand, putting in the ruff, the shanks, GUR, divots, FOUR, birdies, standing water, down hill putts, out of bounds, double par pick-up, Wiff, slicing it, whack it, hitting someone else's ball, breaking bags, double putting, lost balls, snow and hail, sticker bushes, annoying animals, balls stuck in trees, animal holes, sand traps, water and more water, shadows, frustration, double digits, knickers, golfers tan, chunks, cart paths, lightning, rain, and the dreaded score card. Sound easy to you?

The seaside girls and boys both won their District Tournaments and had strong seasons. The girls won with a landslide while the boys escaped with a one point lead against Scappoose. Michelle Olson took medalist and Brette Docekal was not too far behind taking third at Districts. Tyler Weston and Jake Burke both finished in the top ten at Districts.

At State the Boys had a strong fifth place finish while the girls unhappily finished ninth. Coaches Dennis Vaughn and Dave Foust put in lots of hours making the season fun and successful for all the golfers.

GRADUATION 2000

One hundred members of the class of 2000 celebrated their graduation on Monday night, 12 June 2000, in the Seaside Convention Center. SHS grads of former years, friends, parents, and extended family from Oregon, Washington, and across the country, not to mention Aya Yanagi's father from across the Pacific Ocean filled the hall.

The SHS Concert Band played "Pomp and Circumstance" to introduce the class into the hall. The Bel Canto Choir sang the National Anthem with Kelsey Mousley hitting the high note. Opening thoughts were offered by Jenni Bradley and Cambria Goodman. The Chamber Choir sang "An Irish Blessing," with senior members in red and underclassmembers in the blue choir robes. Senior Concert Band members joined their peers for the comical "Cartoon Symphany," their final performance.

Speakers included five of the six Valedictorians and one of the two Salutatorians. Without their senior members, the band played "Fanfare and Recessional" as the class exited the hall, tassels tossed and faces grinning. ❧ staff

1. Co-Salutatorian Terra Hiebert and Co-Valedictorians Erika Hamer and Stuart Kisvarday shared the podium and their insights of the past thriteen years and the years stretched out in front of them. Hiebert: "We're headed for the moon and we're going to get there if we have to crawl." Hamer: "I've heard many people say they want the world... let's hope it wants us." Kisvarday: "Each of us should measure our success on what we bring to others on a human level." 2. Ze' boys, standing tall in their caps and gowns. Seth Morrisey, Jess Vaughan, Brett Polevoi, Todd Underhill, Jeremy Strimple, and Jeff Jackson smile together for one last group photo. 3. Ember Hood and Amber Hooton on their next to last stroll for SHS. 4. Kristin Smith and Co-Salutatorian Pat McDonald. Baccalaureate

Sunday evening, June 11th, was a memorable night for Seniors and their families. Baccalaureate, held at NCFF, highlighted talents and activites of Seniors from throughout their years at SHS.

Shelf organizers, two fridges, four VCRs, four television sets, stuffed animals, beach chairs, coffee pots and other small appliances, gift certificates for meals and services, and coolers and beach paraphenalia were among the many door prizes and awards offered to seniors at the all-night Senior Party held in the basement banquet room of the Shilo. "It was so cool that people you hadn't talked to most of the year sat together and chatted, drifted off to sleep and sang karaoke." People signed one another's memory books and Sabrina Resa and Elaine Murdy's arms (they were competing). Prizes and party cost seniors only $7, but the loot was due to the hard work of Rotary and generosity of our community.

Seniors "In the Mood." Pam Ulbricht and Molly Brown demonstrated years of dance in their tap number. 3. There may be "Tears in Heaven" but there were more than a few in the audience after listening to Kevin Mitchell's song. 4. "I Have Chosen My Path" explained Ian Anderson-Priddy in his poem. 5. Senior Choir members Kevin Mitchell, Ian Anderson-Priddy, Sabrina Resa, Kate Shaffer, Kirsten Webb, and Kristin Smith sang "Oh, My Luve's Like a Red, Red Rose." These six vocalists represent four years of Choir at SHS working with their evening's accompaniest Michelle Starke, who also played the Prelude and Postlude for the evening. 6. "Once you leave home... When the only thing left in your closet is your graduation robe, it might be time to do the laundry," warned Pastor John Nagle. He also urged the class to love and serve others, ask for and freely give forgiveness, and develop their faith.

PACIFICA

Another school year came to an end, and once again our seniors presented their many hours of hard work and commitment to students, staff, friends, and family. When it came to that final day in May, last minute details were attended to, displays mounted, speeches rehearsed, and it appeared that the Pacifica Projects were an overall success.

The Pacifica Projects are designed as a way for Seaside High School students to utilize the skills and talent they have obtained through life experiences and years of education. There are many qualities needed to efficiently complete the project and presentation. These necessary skills consist of leadership, commitment, collaboration, communication, organization, and service. These seniors return to the community what they have been given throughout their years in Seaside. They create and successfully complete a service project, research a related issue, and then exhibit their experience and knowledge to the community.

Most students choose a project for something they specifically enjoy, such as sports, drama or music. The project must benefit the community, as well as set a firm precedent for the underclassmen. Keeping in mind that this project is the grand finale of their high school career, most students put forth a great deal of effort and end their year on a positive note.

P R O M

Oh what a night! Too small, too close, too hot, too steamy, too much fun! The bottom floor banquet room of the Shilo Inn was decorated with tiny lights and darkness. The blue and silver color scheme, stars hanging from ceiling and anchoring ballons on the table added to the energy of the evening.

Charlie Gilliam, Bret Millar, Seth Morrisey, and Maggie Olstedt went to Big Foot's Pub and Grub. Molly Olstedt and her date David Latham, Christy Nagle and Aaron Pogue went to the newly remodeled Wayfarer in Cannon Beach to watch the ocean before the Prom. Jesse Vaughan and Katie Williams played air hockey before Prom.

Astoria's Prom was the same night and the final arrivals at our event were members of the AHS court who had to wait for their own judging before putting in a south county appearance.

The Prom crunch began early in the day when Pam Ulbricht was stuck on the Young's Bay bridge and the fifteen minutes waiting for a fishing boat to cross under the bridge cost her a hair appointment. She put in all those corkscrew curls herself. And that before the dress problem! (The one she'd planned to borrow was too short so she wore the one Katie Williams had rented for herself but discarded in favor of Kristen Smith's lavender number… Are all Prom dressings like this?)

SPRING CONCERT

Many parents and friends cheered on the choir and the band the night of June 8. This being Michelle Starke's last year, many graduates and friends came to see her off in the last concert of the year.

Jazz Choir opened with 3 songs, "A Room Without Windows," "After You've Gone" and "Java Jive." The Jazz Band played three songs: "Life Saver," "Stompin at the Savoy" and "Express Lane". Concert Choir played two songs: "The Longest Time," and "The Boy from New York City." Next was the Symphonic Band, who played three songs: "Majestia," "Cartoon Symphony" and "Out of this world." Richard Dickson then presented his band awards. Chamber Choir concluded the concert and sang two songs: "Lonesome Road" and "Medley From Rent." Choir then presented their awards.

For the final song of the night, all the choir's combined to perform "The Irish Blessing." Former graduates and members from the three different groups that wanted to recognize Michelle Starke, decided to sing one final song, "You are the new day."

CABARET

This year's Jazz Cabaret was held at the Nicholson Recital Hall. The Cabaret was donation-only, and all proceeds went to help Rachel Anderson-Lira's medical bills, instead of to the choir department. For this wonderful cause, Bel Canto raised approximately seven hundred dollars.

The cabaret featured a fabulous array of songs. Ian Anderson-Priddy started out the program with "Let's Fall in Love" by Cole Porter. Other soloists included Mike Neilson, Lynnette Harbison, Ben Fry, Erin Reilly, Jennifer Sopko, Shawn McCord, Guy Clark, Duke Park, Kate Shaffer, Amanda Phillips, Harmony Jiroudek, Kirsten Webb, Kelsey Mousley, Lauren Huntsman, Stephanie Duncan, Tim Burke, Trevor Nagle, and Skylar Archibald.

The songs ranged from "Over the Rainbow" to "Kissing a Fool" by George Michael. The Cabaret went splendidly, even with Mike Neilson and Ian Anderson-Priddy's many attempts to steal the mic—and the show—with stories of their friend, "Q-Tip."

For any moment in your life,
whether it be good or bad,
remember these words-
"This too shall pass."

In those moments
when the world is overwhelming, remember that there will always come the day that this trial is over;
it too shall pass.

And in those moments that amaze you,
that fill you with elation, take the time to stop and memorize the way everything feels so that you can cherish those moments, for they too shall pass.

Thank you for four years of exhausting elation,
I will remember every moment.
—Michelle Starke

Spring, the season when everyone lets out a big sigh. The school year is almost complete, the weather begins to lighten up and everyone is out trying to enjoy the sunshine. Whether it be by participating in a spring sport, eating outside for lunch or having bon fires on the beach, everyone is outside. We become anxious to wrap up the school year and begin our summer vacations.

Spring is a time to work hard and play hard. Although there are projects to complete, finals to take, and competitions to go to, students always find the time to have some fun! During spring break several fearless French students ventured to France (Europe) with Jon Broderick. The choir sang it's way to State and placed 2nd. The anticipation for the Oscars was topped off with a spectacular afternoon of awards. Presentations were made at Senior Awards Night and National Honor Society Awards. The Junior/Senior Prom was held on May 20th this year. For a change it was at Shilo Inns in the Bauquet Room.

Once the projects were wrapped up, the finals had been taken, and the District and State championships competed in, the school year was ready to end.

The roads are all dried up and the sun is aching to come out. E.R. There has been almost five feet of rain so far, this being a fairly dry year and all. J.H. Well, it's almost over. Can you believe it? Back in December, we thought that it would be torture waiting for spring in general, and especially JUNE!! The second half of the school year has flown by, inspired by the hope of a wonderful summer approaching, once again we will all be free. M.D. As late spring is arriving the sun is starting to poke her head out more often and the swells are getting smaller. G.D. This is the time for daffodils. They come up and are placed in a special glass jar and they will die and that is that. M.O. On the steps seniors are reading their last book of the year. They lay back and relax in the sun. It's the best time of the year but the worst time to have to go to school. L.L. The sun is peeking around the curtains in classrooms. In-between conversations, you fill in an answer on the worksheet or glanced at the video that runs without a purpose. R.M.

Soon, we will leave this place that we call home for nine months out of the year. Then summer will be upon us and we will face the fact that our wonderful little town will be invaded. Yes, you know... TOURISTS! These fearsome critters are not as dumb as your usually annoying rodents. Instead they swarm in by the thousands and attack the locals, flooding them with their slow driving and stupidity. As strong as we locals are, we can only hold off their brutal attack for so long, and a few of us must go out and combat against this fearless foe. T.B.

Garbage In, Garbage Out

Heidi Orr and Julie Visser

A season of underclass superstars

With over half of the 1999-2000 swim team composed of underclassmen, the boys and girls teams surprised everyone by finishing much stronger than anticipated.

Girls had a winning season, which included finally beating LaSalle. Girls came in second at Districts, losing only to St. Helens. Sally DeNotta, Julie Visser, and Robyn Stowers all qualified for State in their individual events and relays. They were joined on their relays by Lindsey Oyala to round off the 4x50 and 4x100. Visser took first place in the 100 fly, and second in the 200 free. DeNotta came in fourth for her 50 freestyle, and Stowers swam the 500 free in the preliminaries at State. The 4x100 came in third with a time of 3:58.96. Overall, girls tied for fourth place at State.

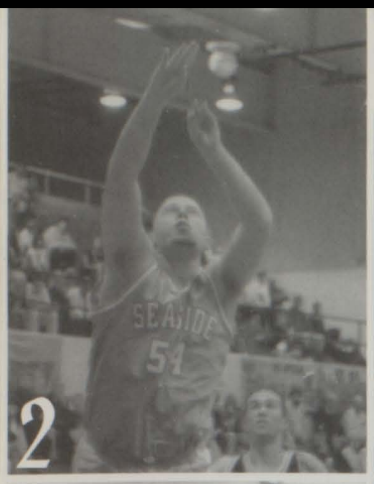

The boys also had a good season, with all three relays qualifying for State. Freshman boys made a huge contribution to the team, with Joe Oyala taking a spot on the 4x100 varsity relay. Oyala was joined by Matt Stowers, Stuart Kisvarday, and David Rankin. Stowers, David Rankin and John Wallace each qualified in individual events. Stowers came in first in the 50 free, Wallace finished seventh, and Rankin came in ninth in the preliminaries. Boy's medley, 4x50, and 4x100 relays all went to State, with the 4x50 and 4x100 both finishing fourth. Overall, boys came in fifth.

Kept battling until the final horn

Three overtimes during final game characterizes boys' season

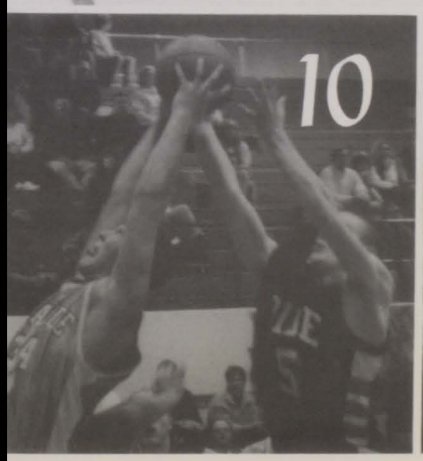

The Seaside High School boys basketball team started the season off on a high note, sweeping the jamboree at home. Second year head coach Bill Westerholm had plenty of talent to work with, including many award winning Seniors.

The team got off to an average start, winning and losing some games here and there. But once the Cowapa League playoffs were in sight, the heart and sole of the team started to show its self.

In one game against Rainier towards the end of the season, the boys really began to pour it on. The team ran laps around the Columbians, leading 45-10 by halftime, and easily cruising to victory with a final score of 82-38. Playing time was not a problem for all of the members of the Seagull team. Rainier didn't even know what hit them on their home court. Seaside continued their offensive bombardment, with second convincing victory over Banks, 83-51.

In what could easily be considered their biggest victory of the year, Seaside conquered their rival Astoria. Seaside went into the ball game the underdog, going up against one of the top teams in the league. But Seaside displayed tremendous passion for the game, while the Fishermen were plagued with foul trouble. The game was close for three quarters, but Seaside showed off their muscle in the fourth, winning 57-48.

Even though in their final game against St. Helens, Seaside ended their season with a loss, the team went out battling during the Cowapa League playoffs. It took three overtimes for the third seeded St. Helens Lions to defeat the fourth seeded Seagulls. The boys worked hard to make sure their season never ended.

Hey Seaside, what time is it?

Holly Snair
& Michelle Olson

It's time to get live. It's time to represent!

After a rough starting season, some said it couldn't be done. Illnesses, injuries and lack of bodies threatened the 2000 girls basketball team, but Seaside showed no sign of weakness, or that they were going to give in. You could say it made the team stronger, everyone pulling together, with each player contributing to the Seagull's victories.

Seniors Kerry Arndt, Molly Brown, Alix Daggatt, Erika Hamer, and Caitlin Morrison raised the team to another level taking the Cowapa League Champs title, with a 11-1 league record. They also led the team where no other SHS girls basketball team has gone before, taking home the First trophy from the State tournament placing 8th. In Corvallis, they managed to keep up the intensity and earned themselves the sportsmanship trophy while they were at it.

Let's not forget the Juniors and Sophomores who helped them get there, Ginny Soller, Hannah Kraske, Monica Teeple, Holly Snair, Courtney Flukinger and Lindsey Mizell all had their hands on the victories.

Guiding the team, Head Coach Ginny Hamer, assisted by Cindy Olvera, Bruce Buzzell and Wally Hamer, all supported the girls in their amazing 22-5 overall season record.

Many SHS wrestlers stood atop the ranking podium. Konrad Anderson set a new school record with three consecutive District Championships. Chad Winters had a flawless record of 35-0 and was District Champion in his weight class. Mike Mizell and Chris Chestnut also placed 1st at Districts in their division.

David McAlinden took 2nd place, which was good enough to send him on to the State Tournament along with four of his teammates. Both Josh Austin and Jarrod Jackson had terrific seasons, placing 3rd at Districts, just short of the State Tournament.

At State, the team placed 13th as a whole. Konrad Anderson took 7th in the heavy weight division. Chad Winters closed his perfect season with a win in the final round of the State Tournament, making him the Oregon 3A 103 pound Champion. Chad's first place finish made him the 2nd State Champion in Seaside's history, with the 1st being Toby Sunnell, last year.

As for the regular season, Seaside took on some tough opponents, winning two League matches, and one non-League. They earned six "top 5" finishes at tournaments with up to 16 other teams. Fearless leaders, Chuck Mattocks and Jeff Corliss had this to say about the next season, "4 past State competitors in the 2001 season returning to the "House of Pain" to lead the team in setting high goals."

Sports that get no respect

Kevin Reynolds

Breaking a sweat doesn't have to involve the school.

With only a dozen recognized sports for students to choose from, some athletes blaze their own trail in the athletic world of sports. Any sport that falls outside the organized twelve sports of SHS, we designate as "other" sports.

Hackysack, one of the more popular other sports, can be seen played all throughout the school-day by students. As for the reason hackysack is so popular, senior Geoff De Vere says, "It's kind of like meditation. Hack is being zen like. You're in harmony with the hack. You must be one with the hack. You must flow with the hack."

Kajukenbo may be a strange word, but it's actually a sport. James Kirk has been practicing this martial art for over a year and not just for self-defense. James says kajukenbo is, "Good for physical excercise. It helps me keep calm about things in life. It helps me balance my mind, body and soul."

Another sport that numerous students participate in is paintball. Each student has their own reasons for playing, from the excitement of hiding and running from the enemy to just firing the gun. Shane Cherry says paintball is a difficult sport because it, "requires aim and speed. You always have to work on your skills. The sport incorporates everything that are also found in war-games."

The Ultimate
—Geoff De Vere

Taking off I don't know if I'll make it.
I had to duck due to some gnarly sets to get here. So I need to be sure about where I'm going.
It seems I'm too deep—drop, grab the rail, pull in, just go for it. It's the ultimate ride.
If I make it, I'll be stoked;
if not, at least I went for it.
You have to be totally committed.
The ocean plays for keeps.
There is no rewind.
Charge and never look back.

ALL THE REST

Monotonous rain, gloomy clouds. How could you enjoy yourself in these conditions? Students daydream of long days and maybe a glimpse of sun. Even so, many SHS students looked past the aspect of weather, and kept themselves entertained.

Who couldn't help feeling excitement for the New Year? For the new Century! This led to a greater emphasis for New Year's Resolutions, many students had hopes for breaking old habits, or starting new ones. Perhaps better grades? Eating better? Everyone had goals.

Winter brought its fair share of worries. Seaside High School experienced a bomb threat, that left the school deserted in minutes, literally. The parking lot has never been emptied so quickly before. Another worry was the news of Neil Priddy leaving. Students wondered "who is going to teach us Calculus, or Trig?" It will be hard to find a replacement for such a great teacher.

SNOWBALL

Snowball 2000 was the first SHS formal dance of the new year 2000 and was sponsored by Key Club. The theme was "When the Clock Strikes". While the attending students spent most of their day preparing for their big night, the Key Club dedicated many hours before the dance preparing for the event, making everything just right. Students attending the dance went through many bottles of hairspray, trips to the florist and endless clicks of cameras prior to the dance.

The Snowball court included representatives from each classs. The Freshman class prince and princess were Jason Smith and Maggie Olstedt. Richard Walsborn and Brittany Brigham were the Sophomore class prince and princess. The Junior class voted Ryan Reidlinger and Lauren Huntsman as their royalty. The Senior Snowball Court consisted of Anthony Guinden, David Latham, Andrew Stuart, Carrie Barrett, Amber Danielovich, and Molly Olstedt. One of the highlights of the evening was when Latham and Danielovich were announced Snowball 2000 King and Queen. Another highlight of the evening was when birthday girl, Robyn Stowers, was called up while "Happy Birthday" was played.

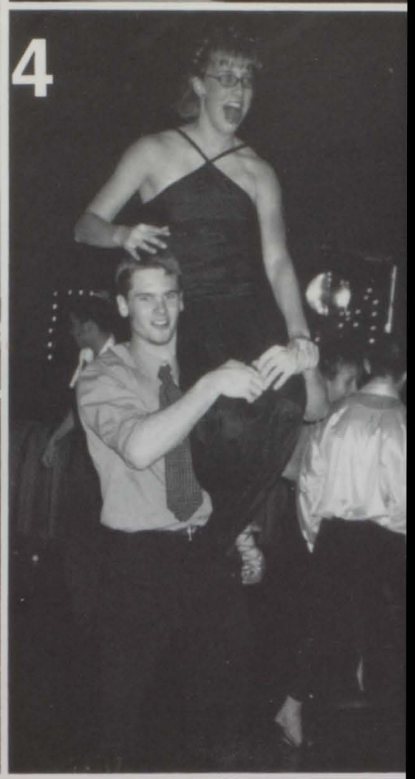

The night was danced away with many fond memories, then as the clock struck 11:30 the DJ played the final slow song and the dance slowly came to a halt as the attendees drifted away into the clear night.

20TH CENTURY

A look over the last 75 years at SHS. In 1925, 3500 people resided in Seaside, with 200 from the surrounding area attending SHS. The library contained 1200 books and the gym held 600 spectators. No Art, Music, or Journalism classes, but 1925 offered Agriculture, Caesar, Advanced Grammar, and Manual Training. This is the 4th year playing with the "Pig Skin" or the so called "Football." Track was a brand new sport. The girls basketball team lost the State tournament by 4 points in 1925, versus The Dalles.

In the year 2000, 5400 people reside in Seaside, with 536 students enrolled in the high school. The library now contains nearly 30,000 books and videos. The common courses include Math, English, Science, History, Internet and Computer Science. Common sports in the New Millennium have expanded to encompass paintball, skateboarding, hunting, surfing, "cruising the gut," and fishing.

Most students drive and about a hundred take the bus to school at SHS in the new Millennium, instead of having to get up early in the morning to walk to school.

During lunch time, there are many places students go: Safeway, The Stand, or stay and eat in the halls or the cafeteria.

In 1925, the hangout was at Tillamook head, for a nice picnic. Much has changed at SHS in the last 75 years, going from girls in skirts playing basketball to a T-1 line attached to each computer. Who knows what the next 100 years will bring to us at SHS.

WINTER CONCERT

The band and choir Winter Concert was held on December 14 at the Seaside Convention Center. A total of 19 songs were performed by 3 choirs and two bands. Bel Canto decked themselves out in Madrigals costumes and began the evening leading the audience in a few seasonal carols. The sing-along was followed by a set of traditional carols performed by Bel Canto.

Jazz Band was next on stage, with solos by one-armed Jake Siler on the vibes, Emily Reyneke on the baritone sax, Blake Bakken on the trumpet, and Aaron Webb on the alto sax. Next in line, Concert Choir performed four seasonal songs, with solos by Heather Nelson, Paul Stelson, and Chelsea Morissey. Then came Symphonic Band, followed by Chamber Choir. The audience stood as the choir closed the evening with a booming performance of The Hallelujah Chorus.

During the winter the lectures are determined to be twice as long. Math homework is twice as hard, and even the simplest of equations are difficult to decipher. Your chemistry test is a killer, and your French homework is only a jumble of inconsistent letters. In English your ideas are off topic, and the only thing you understand is the F on your last quiz. During the winter your chances of daydreaming are twice as likely, lunches taste more like rubber, and your car runs on less gas. Your paychecks are slim to none and your energy is gone, but not to fear, the guy next to you can hear vegetables growing, you think·his name is Tim. During the winter the power goes out twice as often. The pop machine always eats your money and the price of poppyseed muffins rises with inflation. During the winter at SHS nothing is what it appears to be, the rain blurs the vision of all who are brave enough to enter the storms, and the lucky ones survive to do it all again tomorrow.-- R.C.

The lockers seem to droop from the walls and the halls are filled with sniffling noses, coughing mouths, and stifled sneezes. The only thing there is to inspire us is the hope of a new semester, new and exciting classes, and the glimmer of a new beginning.-- M.D.

This information came from ICS Newsleter of Linclon High School (published in World Teach in Ecuador) and the 1995 World Almanac.

If we could, at this time, shrink the Earth's population to a village of precisely 100 people, with all exsisting human ratios remaining the same, it would look something like this: There would be 57 Asians, 21 Europeans, 14 from the Western Hemisphere (North and South Amarica) and 8 Africans; 15 would be native speakers of Mandarin, 6 of Hindi, 6 of Spanish, 6 of English, and 3 of Bengali; 70 would be people of color and 30 would be white; 33 would be Christian, 18 Muslim, 16 nonreligous, 13 Hindu, and 6 Buddhist; 50 would suffer from malnutrition; 80 would live in substandard housing; 3 would be refugees fleeing from persecution for their religion, ethnicity, or political beliefs, 4 would be infected with the AIDS virus; and only one would have a college education. In about fifteen years, the village population would increase to 112 residents with no appreciable increase in natural resources or food available. In addition, 50% of the entire village wealth would be in the hands of only 6 people, and all 6 would be citizens of the United States.

"Who's gonna win this game tonight ? We are fight, fight!"

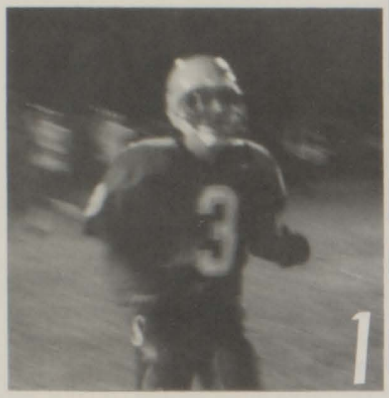

The SHS cheerleaders really got into the SHS spirit these two seasons. They practiced day and night on perfecting their routines and cheers. Not only did they support the athletes at their games, but also by spending hours on end making locker decorations and posters.

The fall season started with summer practices to get those routines and cheers down soild. The fall varsity squad seniors and Co- Captains were Carrie Mork cheering her second season and Jessica Nelson cheering her second season . They lead team members Libby La Marr, Kelsey Adams, Erin Benson, Jessica Brown, Brette Docekal, and Emily Gilbertson. Brown, Gilbertson, and Benson's dancing experience helped the squad greatly. Docekal's gymnatics was a tremendous asset to the squad.

The winter season started off with a bang! The seniors were Becky Benson, and Cambria Goodman cheering their first season, and the Co-Captains were Bess Hendryx with this being her 2nd season, and Nelson with this as her 3rd season. Followed by Gretchen Harer and Brown. This team followed in the great success of the fall season with some returning members. Hendryx's strong bases skills helped the team out tremendously, for the stunning stunts performed by the group.

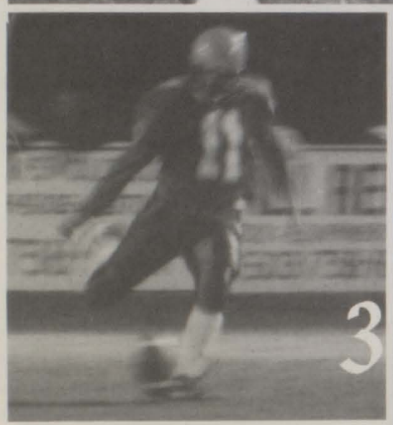

These cheerleaders really showed SHS how to get into the school spirit. They were wonderful to watch and had two great seasons!

One toss away from glory

Kevin Reynolds

Making a playoff appearance comes down to a coin toss.

New head coach Dave Foust had a difficult job ahead of him replacing one of SHS' greatest football coaches Stubby Lyons. But Foust packed his experience with him when moving from Hillsboro. Foust was a two-year starter when he played at Portland State University and an assistant coach at Hillsboro High School.

Starting off the season, Foust and the assistant coaches had plenty of talent to work with. The Seagulls started off strong, beating the Toledo Boomers 26 to 12. But the team then visited Tillamook loosing not only the game but their starting quarterback Trevor Nagle.

Over the course of the season, Seaside performed impressively. In one game alone against Rainier, senior running back Mark Spiering ran for over 200 yards, with the Gulls soaring onto victory.

During the annual Clatsop Clash against rival Astoria, Seaside stormed the field with intent to perform better than last year's showing against the Fishermen. The team showed tremendous passion, but this time, like the previous, Astoria had the better hand.

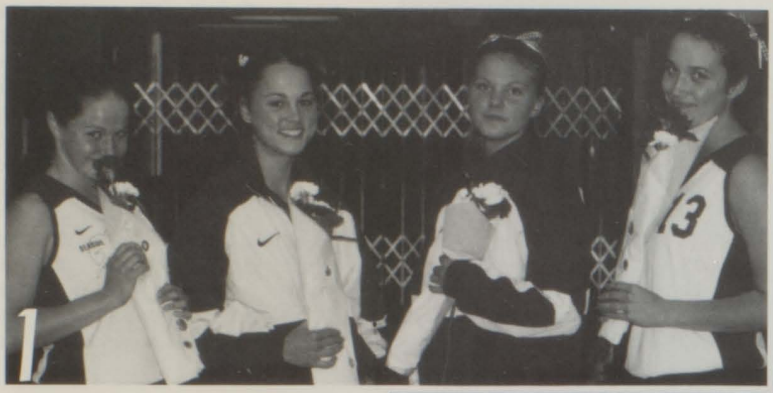

With the discouraging loss behind them, the Seagulls came back and won decidedly against Banks. Seaside finished with a record of five an four overall and three and three in league play. With the win over the Braves, the team tied for third in Cowapa League play with a chance at making the playoffs. However, luck was not on the Gulls' side as they lost the three-way coin toss, ending the season for the team and new head coach Dave Foust.

We're All Fired Up!

Julie Visser

Right Now- It's Everything!

Summer of 1999 faded with camp, set up for the beach volleyball tournament; and trying to avoid collision of parked cars due to an unfortunate experience of the Ulbricht family beforehand. Daily doubles hit and the varsity team abandoned Seaside Labor Day weekend for their annual team bonding trip to Redmond, Oregon. There it was a hippo hot tub party demonstrated by Hannah Kraske and a rock climbing adventure. Goal books were handed and filled out. Later on, if found with out it, the dreaded "Dice of Doom" was to be rolled.

The bus ride to the first tournament in Walport was a horrendous one, considering that there was absolutely no heat for those freezing cold girls. They handled this well by trying to sleep all curled up, looking at their breaths showing in the air. And of course, Lauren Huntsman left her wallet at the nearby Safeway with hardly a surprised reaction from her fellow teamates.

Who of the players got injured? Not Grace Hughes! Even though she broke coaches Jason Boyd and Connie Shepherd's rules consistently by not wearing kneepads or socks, the injury department was handled well courtesy of juniors Hannah Kraske and Kaisa Ter Har.

Overall, the season ended a successful one with most of the goals being met. Future child Ashton Leroy Boyd was still on his way...

"We traded in our blue collars for a Lexus." —Jon Broderick

This was said to be a building year. With five seniors, six juniors, two sophomores, and three freshmen, the boys soccer team was still "just one of those teams everyone wanted to beat," according to Jonathan Robinson. Not like the old junkyard dogs, the rough tough, and scrappy team that was building from two years back, Seaside boys soccer changed their ways, and became a bunch of "pretty boys," said coach Jon Broderick.

They were not the most superstitious bunch, but one pregame ritual they continued from last year was to branch out on their artistic ability. AJ Weber drew animated cartoons showing Seaside players beating the opposition. The pictures included all the teammates and coaches, each person having a special nickname.

According to Evan Wickersham, "[the team] worked well together. We had a good work ethic, and were very creative. We got our energy from Rippedfuel and bananas, and luck from our team angel."

The boys accomplished a lot this year. Defeating Sherwood, Rainier, St. Helens, Scappoose, Corbett, and OES, they only lost to Astoria, whom they just couldn't seem to beat. In the District playoffs they beat Rainier by five, and in the State Playoffs their first game they beat Bandon by two, but the second game they lost to Philomath. "The night before Philomath was the best we have ever played, that night we became the old junkyard dogs," said Coach Broderick gleaming with pride.

When we step out onto the grass we neva' give up! —Paul Dueber

The 1999 season for the girls soccer was a big kick in the grass. They earned a reputation in the Cowapa League for high standards and competed at the State level. Despite the loss of many seniors last year, the '99 team was still capable of pulling off 10 wins, 5 losses, and 1 tie. Again, next year they will have to say good bye to seven seniors that contributed much leadership and inspiration to the team.

Leading the Lady Gulls were captains, Catilin Morrison and Kerry Arndt. Both posed a great effort to keep the team motivated and team oriented.

Team members agreed that the loss of Coach Stacie Hofmann will place a huge gap in next year's season. Her positive outlook on the game encouraged many to strive for excellence and to achieve their highest goals. Hofmann has been with the team for five years. Her awesome attitude and her timely contribution to the team will be greatly missed.

The returning coaches Dave Rouse, Paul Dueber, and Mike Balzer had a large effect on the teams success. With Rouse's conditioning, Dueber's knowledge of the game, and Balzer's support on the sidelines, the lady gulls were optimistic towards the future of their game.

You know what the cones mean!

Charlie Gilliam with Molly Olstedt & Molly Brown

"Everyday is a slice of heaven."

No matter what the weather was like to Mr.Branson, it was always "a slice of heaven." This season the girls and boys cross country teams had many practices that required a little mustard. This extra picante sauce payed off tremendously when districts came around. The girls took first in the meet with All League honors going to Becky Benson, Charlie Gilliam, Kilee Johnson, Lindsay Ter Har, Maggie Olstedt, and Natalie Doyle.

The boys placed fifth running very hard and improving from the beginning of the season. The girls team went on to the State meet in Eugene at Lane Community College and placed an impressive 9th place. Benson earned All-State honors, placing 11th. Her finish qualified her to compete in the Nike Border Cross Country Meet, held at the Nike Headquarters in Beaverton.

Coach Branson took on a new approach to training this year, along with assistant coaches Jan Priddy and Jim Grelle. The team had to work together and encourage each other on a daily basis. Camp Rilea was a second home for the team. The team covered miles of scenic hills—all up! The team definitely put many miles on the Type-20, Priddy's van and Molly Brown's car over the season.

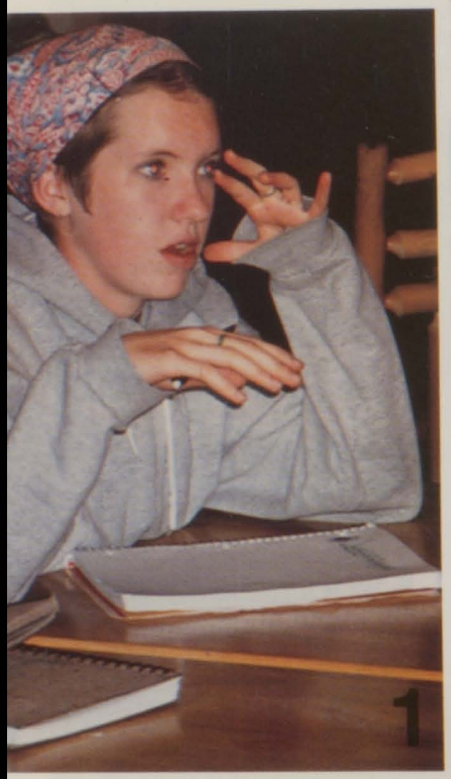

The team never escaped practice, no matter how hard they tried, without a couple of 325 sprints, marked by cones. A quiet season at times, but in the end memorable and successful season long journey.

Here's what you do: Write down your entire name—first, middle, and last. Give each letter its number value, A being 1, B being 2, etc.. Add the numbers, then add the digits of the sum. Repeat until you get a single digit. If you come up with... 1—you are creative. Many world leaders have come from this group. 2—The friendly mixer, a follower rather than a leader. Always has friends. 3—Inspired and artistic. 4—Honest, trustworthy lovers of home and country. 5—Good companions with many friends, who tend not to be tied down. 6—Deep, sincere, scholarly people with a social conscience. 7—Intelligent people who use that intelligence well. 8—Organizers, executives, and planners. 9— The number of justice and righteousness, the ultimate number according to Pythagoras, saved for those who will fight for what they believe is right.

A fun packed weekend away was what most of the students had been looking forward to and that is just what they got. Their getaway weekend was to Maupin, Oregon on the Deschutes River. The trip began bright and early at 6:00am on the morning of September the 12th. Students slept most of the way and with only one rest stop they finally arrived around 2:00pm.

They stayed two nights and their three days were filled with white water rafting, speedy nine hole golfing, windsurfing, mudball fights, and most importantlly lots of writing.

The sixteen students and four chaperones were able to meet and enjoy adventure writer Karen Karbo. She is the author of Big Girl in the Middle, a biography of Gabrielle Reese, famous beach volleyball player and model. The trip ended with good memories and another long bus ride home.

By January the collected work of the trip had been transcribed and compiled into a chapbook called An Outdoor Writing Adventure with Karen Karbo.

SADIE HAWKINS

Sadie Hawkins was well attended this year as many students tried to prove whether or not they could really line dance. Most people showed up in overalls, cowboy boots, and other western attire. A few in the crowed looked as though they were ready for a rodeo with their belt buckles and toothpicks made of hay. The High School Cafeteria decorated with western style and lots of streamers set the mood.

The dance started out slow, but within no time at all the evening picked up. There were many people who expressed themselves by showing just exactly how they could dance in the middle of an excited crowd. When the country music began the girls all lined up to dance while most of the guys headed to the stage to take a seat. Honestly, do they think that there won't be any country music at a western dance? The freshmen represented a majority of the turnout and proved to have a good time. They said that the music was good and the dance was fun. The night was a blast and overall success. Most students continued their fun after the dance at various parties with their friends.

FALL

The 1999-00 school year started with the first day of school set aside for Link Crew and the incoming Freshmen while the rest of the school enjoyed just one more day of summer vacation.

Fall choir concerts were held in October at North Coast Family Fellowship. Concert, Chamber, and Bel Canto choirs were joined by the Broadway Choirs in a concert

The Bel Canto Choir, previously known as the Madrigals/Jazz Choir, held a Harvest Dinner fund-raiser in November to raise money for a tour later on in the year. Overall the night was great success.

Honor Society announced its new members at the Academic Awards Dessert in early October. The year's co-Presidents were Pam Ulbricht and David Latham. Honor Society members are performed a number of community service activities, and provided great support to various groups around Seaside and the surrounding areas.

HOMECOMING

To kick off Homecoming Week, wild horses on loan from outside Safeway were brought into the gym, where David Latham, after 15 wild seconds atop the pint-size mechanical horse, proudly proclaimed, "I dedicate this ride to Kristin Smith!"

Dress-up days were back, and better than ever this year. Pajama Day, Inside-out Day, Hat Day, and school spirit day made the week very entertaining.

Classes presented their banners on the last day of Homecoming Week, with Seniors returning to their third grade yellow t-shirt vow to be "The Smoke Free Class of 2000."

The freshman class won the airband contest, but Juniors took home the top honors for Homecoming Week, winning the esteemed Spirit Plunger with Seniors coming in second.

During halftime, red and white balloons filled the air as Kerry Arndt was crowned the '99 Homecoming Queen. Broadway Middle School was decorated to the theme of "Up on the Rooftop with Chim Chim Cher-ee," a Mary Poppins take-off for the annual Homecoming Dance.

Crazy Surveys

- Would you rather be caught naked by a stranger or a friend? Only38% of students surveyed said they would rather be caught by a friend, while 62% chose a stranger.
- In a 2nd survey, 50% of the Junior class said they would rather eat a whole spoonful of three day old room temperature mayonaise than eat a live herring.
- Of eighty-three people surveyed, 52% said they would rather have a wart than a birthmark.

The days turn into months and the seasons change, but things don't look much different from one season to the next. C.H. The leaves slowly hit the ground with a look of sadness because they left the tree that they were so attached to. The leaves had no idea that their next step in life was to lie on the ground and fade away. M.O. Fall brings the thought of school once again and amidst the grumbles there is an incredible joy. The new school year brings other new things like clothes, pencils and crisp new sheets of paper just begging to be written on. M.D.

Fall not only brings school, but around this area, it also means that the weather just happens to improve for a short time. Even if the weather has been a little cooler with some rain, the sun is guaranteed to make it's presence known the first few weeks of school. It always seems to happen that the first day is gorgeous weather and you don't want to be in school. L.H. All you desire is the chance to go outdoors, if even for a short time. But alas, you and your fellow students are in class and that is where you stay.

Each September the seniors become who they are. The freshman are frightened walking to class as quickly as possible with that deer in the headlights look about them. S.A. Everyone walks into the school building tired from the late nights of summer break and the strenuous workouts of daily doubles. G.H. But here we are back at Seaside High School. It may take some getting used to, but hey, there is plenty of time for that :)

SUMMER

The three months that every student and teacher alike, look forward to. Work, play, and sun, well at least in theory there should be sun but not this summer. The summer of '99 was filled with memories of fun and exciting times. Many enjoyed vacations to foreign countries while others chose to stay in town. Some got summer jobs to earn cash, while some just sat on their bums. Many SHS students spent their time outdoors and enjoying mother nature. Everything from hiking the Rocky Mountains to SCUBA diving here in Oregon. For the most part students were busy.

With summer coming to an end student prepare to come back to school. The days became shorter the temperatures dropping a bit. Fall was coming with the developing winds. And with fall came the new school year, summer was over.

A look over the last 100 years, and this is what we have. In 1900, we had Eugene Debs run for president, taking 95,000 people to the polls, and Freuds Interpretation of Dreams. In the year 1925, the crossword puzzle, starts a fad, and Louis Armstrong and Hot 5 record. Now, to the 1950's, where we are half way done. McCarthy makes a list of 205 Communists in the Government, American Express card first introduced, and US troops are sent to Korea. In 1975, Jimmy Hoffa goes missing, while disco fever sweeps across the US. Who knows what the next 100 years will bring, flying cars, or faster McDonalds service, only time will tell.

Here sit the Seniors… the last first day together at SHS, not sure where to look or what to do next. Soon June will come and these wandering eyes will be focused in a new direction… another first day. Whether it be college, work, or travel, there will be unexplored territory with dreams to fulfill, goals to achieve & lessons to learn. Good Luck!

Class of 2000!

Our "movie" started way back in 1987 in a foreign and often scary place called Kindergarten. With our pigtails, backpacks, and G.I. Joe lunch boxes we entered the world of education. Then came the sequel in 1994 when we "graduated" to Broadway. This is where those of us from north, south, and east met in the middle. Throughout middle school, despite being labeled the "good class," we didn't have much of a reputation. Especially compared to the, well let's just say "high energy levels," of the classes before and after us. This rep followed us through Progression and into the series finale, high school. In 1996 we entered the halls of SHS as timid, yet eager freshmen.

So, what do you say? How do you sum up our "high school experience?" One way to describe us: small in size, but large in potential. With our class producing six Valedictorians all with a 4.0 grade point average and two Salutatorians not far behind we proved to be a group of overachievers and hard workers. Throughout our four years, goals were set and goals were met. We pursued success in academics, art, theater, athletics, music, work, and community service. You name the activity, sport, or hobby and we probably had someone involved with it.

We are a diverse bunch in personality. Overall kindness was relayed to one another each day at school, but we were close to only a few. We were a group that liked to laugh, a class full of stories. Strange stories like: random tales of ducks and bowling alleys, visiting Safeway during the midnight hours in our PJ's, days at the cliffs, driving our cars down the prom- or maybe around the track, tentative beach bonfires, summer camping trips, tennis matches, midnight skateboarding sessions, stealing street signs, late nights at Stop & Go playing spoons, food fights in freshman hall (which got us kicked out of our hall during lunch for a week or so), joining the freshman in a yell contest because as Seniors we could only manage to win one on our own, hackysacking, toilet papering cars and houses… and the list goes on with each of us filling in our own untold adventures. These are the creative and inventive things we found to keep us busy and "take a load off" when Seaside ran out of constructive things to do. These stories are what we sat down on Monday mornings and told our friends, with the simple explanation, "It was funny… you had to be there."

The "movie" has finished and it is time to push eject, but really we are just beginning the second volume. However, this volume has new characters and a different setting. We will never forget the stars of the last film, but the time has come for a new cast and a new plot. With credits rolling and the theme song playing we say our good-byes and leave the theater.

—Christy Nagle, Molly Olstedt, & Katie Williams

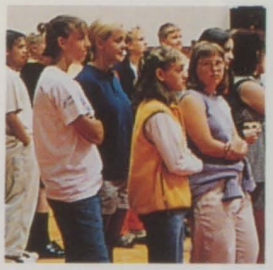

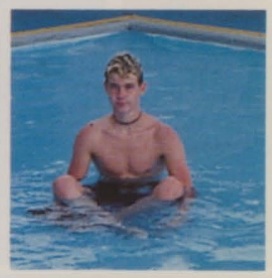

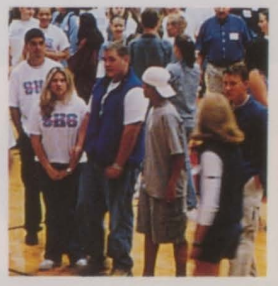

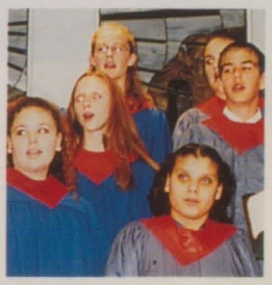

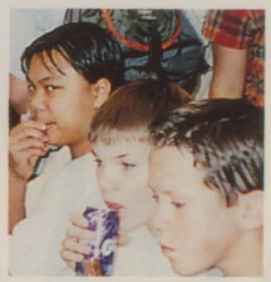

Sometimes the world needs a great notion...

As some look towards the future, those of us on the Seabreeze staff decided to reflect on the past. Our thoughts were "Why go with the flow and follow the crowd? We prefer to stand out from the rest. We are the prophecy of democracy!"

It all started at an intense brainstorming session the day after Press Day. We had walked away with no new ideas and no hope for the future. Then with the brilliance of Emily Yokum and Molly Brown, who decided not to let the future shackle our imaginations.

Against the grain, as we have done before, we developed an entirely new idea for a yearbook. With one simple phrase from Emily and Molly, a new era was born. "Why don't we just make the book backwards?!" This was greeted with looks of astonishment and relief that someone had answered the call of the yearbook freedom horn.

These yearbook saviors precipitated the dawning of excitement for yearbook lovers everywhere. And to believe that all of this took place while the yearbook head quality assurance inspector was temporarily preoccupied with foreign affairs.

We then triumphantly presented our master plan to the board, consisting of our commanding admiral. Through hostile negotiations, without input from the great mediator, the entrance of the book was decided upon. We'd begin at the end, in the area formerly known as the back.

We sat on our rears, and didn't do anything until it came to crunch time, and grades were involved. On Feb 2nd, our first actual worknight was held and we all survived the "One-Three-Zero Beep-Beep-Beep" crisis.

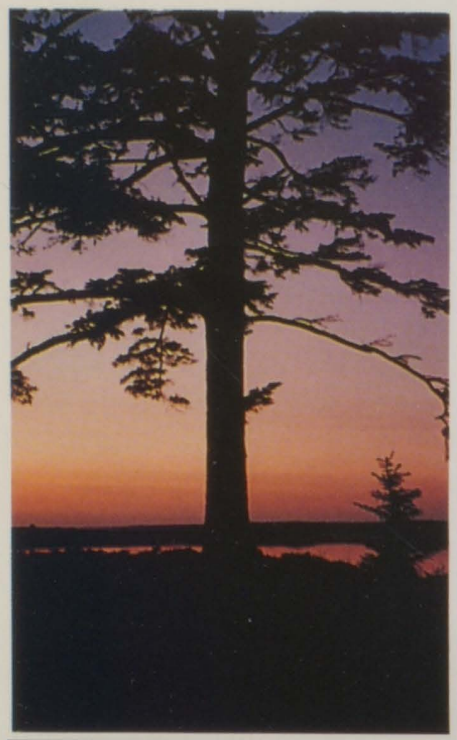

Then came the end of the beginning, because once you rewind, you always have to press play. We're at the end of the book, it's time to make that tape flow in the opposite direction, look at the year, one page at a time. We have rewound our past, and now it's time for the future.

As you pick through this book, note to yourselves or each other that we as a yearbook staff are regressors of today's modern society, but in fact, we are the progressors.
